A new initiative has been set up in conjunction with NAB and Strive Stronger to help businesses and their employers with their wellbeing.

Founder of StriveStronger Andrew May said the program was designed to support small business owners and their employees in their physical and psychological wellbeing.

"On our digital platform we have a range of videos and articles and every month we have webinars and keynotes," he said.

"We have podcasts - interviews with Australian leaders, athletes, small business leaders and subject matter experts."

Australia has more than two million small businesses that have struggled through the pandemic period.
